

Michelle Sparkman Renz

Michelle Sparkman Renz is an analyst and Associate Director of Research at The Graduate Management Admission Council® (GMAC®). GMAC is the owner and administrator of the GMAT® exam and offers global research and services to schools.

In this capacity, she is focused on monitoring and analyzing shifts in graduate management education markets for the United States and international countries.

Before joining GMAC in 2006, she worked at The Center for Strategic and International Studies, an independent Washington-based think tank where she was Deputy Director of Institutional Relations and Assistant Director for the Europe Program.

Ms. Renz holds a Masters degree in International Affairs and European Studies from the George Washington University, Washington, D.C.